

Redmen on to Queen's

by Danny Young

The Redmen travel to Kingston tomorrow to play Queen's in the OQIFC Eastern championship, and have an opportunity to add yet another chapter to McGill's playoff history. (See article page 6)

In view of that fact that Queen's is coming off two narrow victories over Carleton and Bishop's while the Redmen clobbered Bishop's and Ottawa, Daily Sports has made the McGill squad four point favorites.

The Redmen, however, must contend with 10,000 Queen's fans who will be on hand to support the experienced Gaels.

Though the Redmen defence was able to contain stars Jim Rutka and Bob O'Doherty in the regular season outing between the two teams, they must stop fullback Dave Marinucci who burned them at Molson Stadium.

Our confidence in the McGill team lies in the strong defence and the devastating passing game, the likes of which Queen's has not yet seen.

Neither team can afford the kind of errors McGill and Bishop's made last Saturday. This is playoff football. There are no "we'll get him next time" statements to be made.

Down Con U. 3-1

Redsocs to the Nationals

by Pierre Shanks

Yes, folks, the McGill Redsocs did it once again! They completed their season with a 3-1 victory over the Concordia Stingers.

For the first time of their history, the Redsocs compiled a perfect record of 6 wins and 0 losses, for the first time they are champions of the QUAA, and for the first time, they will play in the nationals.

Last Sunday, they had beaten Laval University by the score of 2-1, with goals from José de Castro and Jim Takats.

Wednesday, against the Stingers, they showed tremendous concentration and team play, and walked off the field at the half with a 3-0 lead.

Their ball control was excellent; and strong defence made life a little easier for goalie Tom Sauder, who still made a couple of saves that gave inspiration to his teammates.

Walmir de Silva carried the reputation of the "Brazilian Connection", scoring two of the three goals. Billy Mallon, on a superb play, signed the other one.

During the second half, coach Gord Gow decided to rest a few of his "regulars" and experimented with position changes in his alignment. Also, Goalie José Bergna replaced Tom Sauder. Both usually alternate after the first half of each game.

As a result, Concordia pressed the McGill defence much more in that second half, but was limited to one goal, as Joe Dakak was the only Stinger to have his name down on the scoring sheet.

José Bergna did a remarkable job in front of his nets. Graham Gill avoided disaster twice within seconds on two miraculous saves when, at one point, Bergna found himself out of position. Gill had to block both shots with his legs - unbelievable!

Now the Redsocs will play in the Nationals at Centre Claude Robillard on November 10th, 11th and 12th. There is no doubt they are one of the favorites to win the national title.

In their first encounter, they will meet the Stingers once again on Friday night, the 10th. WE NEED FANS! All the best university teams of the country will be there...with their supporters. It is time for McGill fans to show up!

Hoopmen play Ottawa, Carleton

By Brahm Pascal

T'was the night before Carleton and all through the gym, the hoopsters were thinking, "never again". Oh they bombed us last year, on national TV, but we'll eat those Ravens Friday, à la fricasse.

With that witty little piece of pseudo-poetry, let us herald the 1978-79 McGill Redmen basketball season, called for tonight around eightish. The Raven appetizer will be followed by Ottawa Gee-Gee tomorrow afternoon, two courses that promise to usher in what most observers believe will be a smashing season for athletically inclined gastronomes.

Seeing as all systems are go injury-wise, the only concern is what assistant coach Joey Farroba calls the "continuity of effort. I think we need a meaning for our work and the games will give us that." Most locker room philosophers would agree that you don't beat anyone in scrimmages except yourself, and there is certainly little glory to be found in that.

Staples is quite pleased with the way his big forwards have adjusted to the three forward-no center offence, so well as a matter of fact that they can turn the formation inside out. "With our big forwards able to manoeuvre so well outside, we can reverse the offence," Staples pointed out. "If we put the forwards on the perimeter, Pat Kehoe is a fine shooter from 15 to 18 feet out, and Gregg Fasulo will really make things happen."

Borrowing pages from the books of Chairmen Staples and Farroba, the Redmen players were shining examples of uniformity of thought and purpose (which may serve them well on their visit to Cuba). Forward Jim Vanderaa put a little flair in the old party line by describing the Redmen's situation as "waiting to explode from the doldrums." Steve Skabia, another large person, displayed a fine mastery of violence metaphors and their application to basketball in stating that, "we'll get a team down in the scrimmages but we wouldn't kick. But right now our spirit is flying high and we're gonna start beating on other people."

The next two weeks of action are important ones to the team, especially "for team morale because right now, we know who the seven or eight players are that will do the job for us," said Staples. "The two games and next week's tournament will give the kids an opportunity to do their thing."

Martlets lose to Bishop's

by Don Di Maulo

The McGill Martlets went down to their second straight defeat Wednesday night, this time 2-1 at the hands of the Bishop's Galettes.

As was the case in their last game, the Martlets were unable to apply pressure on the opponent's goalie. McGill fired a mere three shots on Darlene Goodleaf in the first period, the only scoring threat coming from the stick of team captain Cory Logan. Martlet goalie Laura Drover faced 7 shots, including a spectacular save on Sherry Luman, who had split the defence and appeared headed for a goal.

Shortly after the start of the second period, Suzanne Dumesnil lit the scoreboard for Bishop's on a point blank shot from the left side. McGill's Lillian Unsworth tied it at 9:44 on a five footer, with assists going to Jean Rogers and Brigitte Marchand. This set the scene for the nail-biting third and final period.

The Martlets had the first chance on the Bishop's goalie when a defencewoman slipped and fell to the ice, however they were unable to capitalize on this golden opportunity. Moments later at 4:22 of the period, Laurie Schoolcraft, on an assist by Kathy Reese, scored what proved to be the winning goal as she knocked in the rebound after McGill's Drover had made the initial save. Martlet defencewoman Madeline Racicot began an end to end rush toward the Bishop's net with 8 seconds remaining, but a sliding save by Sue Kopp ended McGill's last scoring threat.

Martlet Memos: Final shots on net: by Bishop's - 22, by McGill - 12...The game's four starlets: 1-Bish. Laurie Schoolcraft, 2-McG. Cory Logan, 3-Bish. Mary Farish, 4-McG. Madeline Racicot...Next home game Wednesday, November 22nd versus the undefeated John Abbott Islanders..

QUAA Hockey Preview

by Richard Jablonski

In the past, selecting the eventual winner of the Quebec University Athletic Association Hockey League has been rather like playing Russian roulette with a loaded gun.

In other words, ever since the 1974 merger of Loyola College with Sir George Williams University, Quebec University hockey has had all the predictability of the rising sun. Concordia has owned the Q.U.A.A.

"Not so this year", say the hockey pundits. "Concordia can be had."

So let's all take a long look at the six teams in the Q.U.A.A. this season. That's right; six teams. Laval is officially back in the Q.U.A.A. fold, which means the league's regular season schedule is that much more representative and meaningful.

Concordia Stingers

Don't everyone jump to conclusions. Concordia is not the first team on the list because a first place finish is being forecast for the Stingers. Of course, the Stingers may well finish on top of the Q.U.A.A. heap, but first coaches Arseneault and Philip must answer a few questions.

For instance, who is going to be your goaltender, Paul?

"We're counting on Dog Dragesevitch to be number one," said Arseneault before this past weekend of his recent acquisition from the now defunct Union College hockey program. The only problem is that Dragesevitch, coming off an injury during a preseason match, let up 11 goals in two periods of play against Dalhousie on Sunday afternoon.

Former Stinger J.V. net-minder Gary Fecteau has been no better, allowing five goals a period in two appearances against Toronto and Saint Mary's.

This leaves Arseneault with Doug McCormick, not exactly a household word around Montreal hockey circles. McCormick turned in a creditable, if not spectacular, performance in the Stingers' final game in the Maritimes, a 3-3 tie with Saint Mary's.

Once you're out of the nets though, the Stingers appear to be a fairly formidable team. The vastly improved Michel Blais, a tournament all-star in Toronto and this year's Stinger captain, anchors a defence corps which includes 6'3" 190-pound Brendan Lowe, a product of the Sherbrooke Beavers and the International Hockey League.

Up front, the Stingers come at you with three veteran centers: Doug Feasby from Union College and the Toronto

Marlies, Q.U.A.A. all-star Kim Elliott, and hit man Yvon Disotel. So let's not write the Stingers off yet.

McGill Redmen

"McGill in second place?" you ask incredulously. "Maybe first?"

The answer is, most definitely, yes.

Herb Madill's Redmen will be considerably younger than they were last year, but they will also be considerably faster. Balance is this year's password, and Madill has the three lines to provide the required response.

John Swan and Barry Ross will lead the forwards into action, possibly teamed with Dawson College grad Steve Augustine. Augustine will provide the muscle needed to complement the finesse and speed of the high-scoring veterans as they zero in on all-star consideration.

Madill's second line will probably be centered by Harvard veteran Bill Hozack. Hozack has the speed and the accurate shot to go with the brains of a first line center. Returnee Al MacNamara and newcomer Henry Horky from the Junior B ranks figure to be the wings who benefit from the playmaking and experience of Hozack.

For a third line, Madill can choose from among Lorne McIntosh, Neils Anthonisen, Stuart Gold and Pat Shannon, all of whom will see playing time this season.

The defence corps is experienced and talented. Dave Mendelssohn, coming off an exceptional season, will be joined by third year man Ed Vlasic and Dartmouth grad Doug Bradley. Bradley, who is the brother of last year's Redmen top gun Mike, is a smooth skating offensive threat who has definite all-star potential. The fourth defenceman will be either Kelly Burke or Mike Nelson.

If Madill has one problem, it is in the nets. With the graduation of all-star goaltender Al Smith, the Redmen coach will be hard-pressed to find a suitable replacement. Veteran Mike Farmer will take a shot at the number one spot, along with Junior B grads Sylvain Charbonneau and Mitch Goldberg. None of the threesome has been outstanding to date, so look for Redmen goaltending to be adequate at best.

Bishop's Galters

This is the third year of Bishop's celebrated "three year plan" to gain athletic credibility around the country. If the improvement in the Galters hockey team is any indication of the success of that program, then one might safely say that Bishop's has done the job. Translated: the Galters hockey team will be, for the second year in a row, much improved.

The man most responsible for this improvement is last year's Q.U.A.A. coach of the year Ron Perowne. The former Montreal Alouette kick return specialist has taken a confused and battered hockey program and injected it with a healthy shot of direction and purpose.

Even with the sudden loss of Q.U.A.A. all-star goaltender Andre Paradis to the lure of a pro contract in Europe, Perowne has a solid third place team. Paradis will be replaced by one of three rookies, Rod Young, Steve Davies or Doug McNeven, all of whom have the athletic ability, if not the experience, to be solid university goalies.

Defensively, Perowne has no problems. All-Canada blueliner Ken Knowles is back in the Galters camp after a tryout with the Buffalo Sabres of the N.H.L., bad news for opposition forwards. Knowles will be joined by former Saint Francis Xavier and Sherbrooke Beaver assistant captain Mario Claude, footballers Larry Ring and Tom Bray, former U.P.E.I. transfer student Steve Miglia, and Mark Asleson, a 6'2" 190-pounder from the Northwest Territories.

Perowne's defence is solid enough for the Galters coach to move potential all-star Jim Grady up front, where he should lend some muscle to a lethargic attack.

The key to that attack should be the return of veteran centers Ronnie Armstrong, Brian Korb and John Mills. Two Americans who might crack the lineup are 6'1", 180 pound Bob Vigliotti, a native of Acton, Mass., and 6'2", 195 pound Mike Sweeney from Boxboro, Mass..

With a physically large team, the Galters will obviously be heard from, at least along the boards. Just how far they go will probably be limited by inexperience in the nets and a lack of scoring punch up front.

Trois-Rivieres Patriotes

Longtime Q.U.A.A. fans will hardly recognize this year's version of the Patriotes, as a number of veterans have flown the U.Q.T.R. coop. If you're looking for captain Gary Brown, intimidating Louis Chiasson, high scoring Pierre Gingras, all-star defencemen Claude Huard, or the bearded wonder Bernard Noreau, forget it. They're all in Europe, either coaching or playing for new teams.

In fact, the only veterans aside from goaltender Daniel Coutu who have decided to stay with Trois-Rivieres are Normand Vanasse, Michel Ellis, Germain Savard and Maurice Belanger. If you don't recognize any of these names, don't despair. They're not exactly all-star material.

On the blue line, a name to look for is that of Denis Bergeron, a one time member of the Trois-Rivieres Draveurs. Bergeron will be joined by aggressive Daniel Bellerose, a 6'1" belter from Junior A hockey. Bergeron and Bellerose are not bad for starters, but, as we all know, you need at least four defencemen.

Up front, Pat supporters are touting Denis Richard, son of former Canadiens great Henri. If hockey was genetic, Richard might be something to watch. However, word around Montreal says that he's nothing special.

Trois-Rivieres cannot possibly have either the size or the experience of recent Patriote clubs. Look for this team to be small, chippy and willing to forecheck. Otherwise, it's no playoffs for the Patriotes.

Laval Rouge et Or

If Trois-Rivieres can't put together a fourth place effort, perhaps Laval can. The Quebec City school is returning to the Q.U.A.A. with 13 new players and what coach Charles Thiffault calls "the willingness to learn". With 13 rookies, what else can you do?

The keystone of Thiffault's playoff aspirations is goaltender Michel Ouellet, one of the few returning Rouge et Or. Ouellet demonstrated last year that with proper support he is capable of better than adequate goaltending. In this year's goalless Q.U.A.A., Ouellet has all-star potential.

Unfortunately for Ouellet, Laval has lost all of its experienced defencemen with the exception of two untested second year men. We all know that experience on defence is inversely proportional to goals against average, or, as your experience decreases, your G.A. increases.

On the positive side, Laval should be able to put the puck in the net, as last year's top three Rouge et Or goalscorers are back for another crack at the red light. Centers Yves Terusse and Richard Blanchet and right wing Marc Rancourt all know where to find the goal.

If preseason play means anything, Laval could find the going rough. After a doubleheader loss to Moncton, 10-1 and 6-4, the Rouge et Or split two games in the Queen's tourney, losing 5-2 to Queen's before routing the perennially hapless R.M.C. team 15-3. This weekend, Laval will host powerful R.P.I., Ottawa and Moncton in the school's annual preseason tournament.

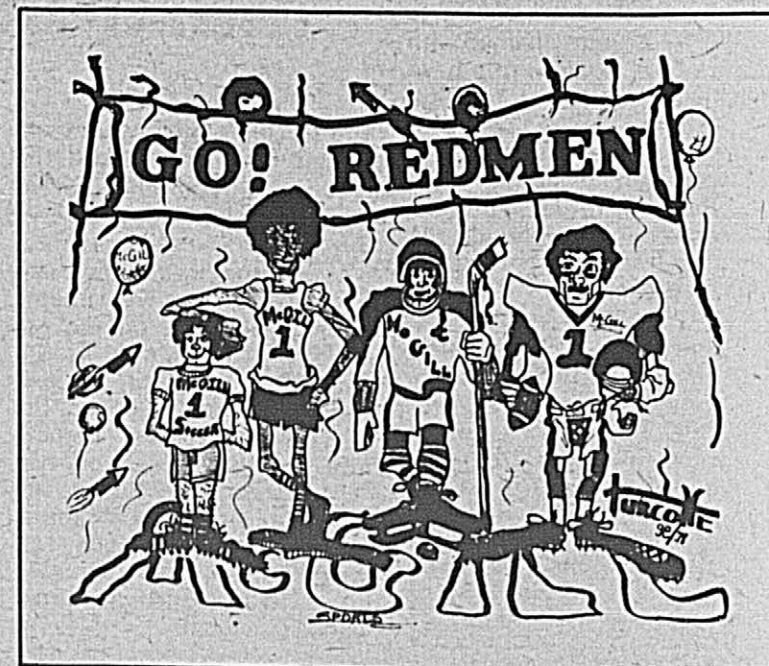

The Rouge et Or have the look of a fifth place team.

Chicoutimi Inuks

For the past two seasons, the Inuks have been the dregs of the league, scoring occasionally while giving up goals by the bushel basket. Typical Chicoutimi score: 10-3.

Somewhere along the line, Chicoutimi picked up an ex-NHL'er, Germain Gagnon, as head coach, the only problem being that Gagnon has no one worth coaching. Sure, the Inuks have had their share of stats, racked up by forwards like Bernard Chamberland and Daniel Dufresne, but coaching has had little to do with that. Usually, the problem lies in the opposition falling asleep from total boredom.

Chicoutimi will finish last again, picking up a win or two over Laval or Trois-Rivieres. However, if the Inuks nip Concordia, Bishop's or McGill at any time this season, it would constitute a major surprise.

Grid Redmen playoff history

by Robert Watt

With the Redmen set to do battle on Saturday at Queen's, The Daily decided to look back on previous McGill football teams and see how they fared and who the interesting personalities of the time were. Here is an abbreviated history of the Redmen's glory years.

1938

Coach Doug "Pop" Kerr

—Ted Tevan's doctor, Eddie Tabah, was an inside (now called a guard) on the team.

—The legendary Doug "Pop" Kerr was the coach.

—Ronnie Perowne Sr. (his son played for the Als and now is assistant athletic director at Bishop's) was the quarterback. Also, he was one of three players to play the full sixty minutes.

—The team romped along undefeated until their last game which they lost to Western, 16-6. This forced a playoff.

—On Nov. 21, McGill won the Yates Cup, emblematic of the Canadian championship, 9-0 over Western on NINE single points.

—The Daily was so overcome by the victory that it dedicated its Nov. 23 issue to the Senior football team for bringing the school closer together.

—"Harry" Blewald (Rick's father) took over at QB because of a rash of injuries.

—McGill finishes dead last.

1949

—Former Alouette, Johnny Newman, named to All-Star team as an inside.

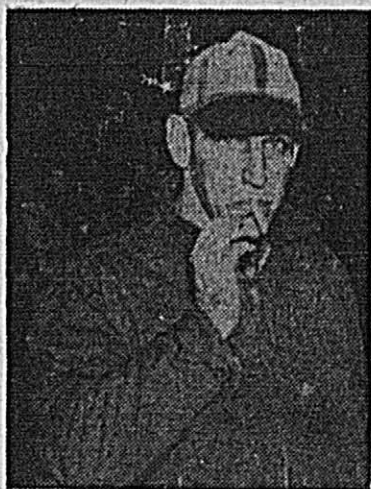

—McGill coach Vic Obeck named top mentor.

—Rocky Robillard was star player.

—McGill loses 12-9 to Western in final.

1950

—23,000 fans fill Molson Stadium to see Obeck's Redmen lose 24-2 in final to

Coach Vic Obeck

Western.

—Vince Colizza was called up for game. (Sam's uncle).

1951

—Starting flying wing, Hal Blewald. (Same guy as 1948, but nicknames get shorter as player gets better.)

—McGill just needs to win last game vs. stumbling Western team to clinch championship.

—Lose 11-7 in fumble-filled game.

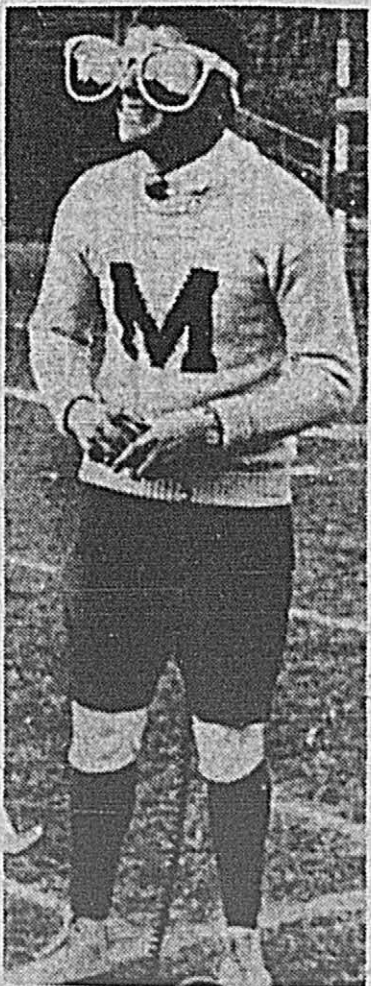

—Title game a wipeout as Western wins 21-10.

1956

—McGill has one of top runners in Canada in Ron Wallingford, on a northern voyage from University of Michigan.

—Queen's Ron Stewart (of Ottawa Roughrider fame) probably country's best player at time.

1960

Redmen fan in 1960

—2,000 McGill fans make trek to Kingston for playoff game.

—Redmen had to beat Queen's twice in a row in Kingston, to get to the Canadian championships (Churchill Trophy).

—Perform impossible and triumph 15-9 and 21-0. WILL THE RED WAVE DO IT AGAIN?

—Star QB Tom Skypeck, still a Montreal resident, MVP of League. Came from Cornell and became a McGill legend.

—Main receiver, Don Taylor.

—McGill wins Churchill Trophy game at Molson Stadium 46-7 over Alberta.

—Coach was Bruce Coulter, now same at Bishop's.

1961

—With Skypeck at control, McGill beats Queen's 15-7 to force playoff again.

—This time Redmen not so lucky, lose 22-2.

Superstar QB Tom Skypeck

—No eligibility requirements at this time, so many players in late 20s and 30s.

1969

—Coached by disciplinarian, Tom Mooney.

—Were 6-1 on year and defence game up only 50 points.

—John Abbott coach, George Wall, starting QB. Minnesota North Star Bobby Smith's brother, Dan, was his back-up.

—Beat UNB 20-8 to get into final (Vanier Cup).

—Halfback Dave Fleischer voted top player in country.

—Lose 24-15 in final to Manitoba.

1973

—McGill meets Trois-Rivières in Quebec final.

—McGill defence allows 3 first downs, -3 yards rushing, and 49 yards passing, in 78-6 romp.

—QB was eventual 7 year vet, Uldis "Dis" Auders.

—Current Redmen coach, Ross Brooks, superstar receiver.

—North Stars' GM Lou Nanne, had a brother, Mike, an excellent defensive lineman, on the team.

—After game, head coach Charlie Baillie exclaims, "The assistant coaches (Dave Lennon, etc.) did a great job!"

—Uses same line 5 years later after playoff win over Bishop's.

—Upset Manitoba in Prairie Bowl, 16-0, as Auders goes 14-21 for 281 yards.

—Meet St. Mary's in College

Bowl.

—St. Mary's has former Roughrider Bill Robinson at QB, and the Argos' Ken Clark as wide receiver and punter.

—Clark has crucial 80 yard punt and wins game's MVP award as St. Mary's triumphs 14-6.

1978

—Pywowaraczuk to Blewald combo burns Bishop's 45-20.

—Attendance at home games tops last five years combined.

THANKS A MILLION FANS!

—Nov. 4, McGill ? vs. Queen's ?

DAILY SPORTS HOCKEY QUIZ CONTEST

In this all sports Daily, we felt that it was an appropriate time to commence the Daily Sports Hockey Quiz Contests. Below are listed 20 questions, some multiple choice and some blank. All readers are encouraged to write down their answers on a separate sheet of paper and hand them in to the Daily office in the basement of the student union building, between now and Thursday, November 9th at 5 pm. The winner of the contest will receive a tuque, compliments of the Athletics Department. Answers to the quiz and the contest winner will appear in next Friday's issue. In the event of a tie, there will be a quiz playoff.

THE STUDENTS' SOCIETY OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY

Annual Report AT MAY 1978

In accordance with regulations as stipulated in the Students' Society constitution

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Executive Director and Members,
The Students' Society of McGill University.

We have examined the balance sheet of The Students' Society of McGill University as at May 31, 1978 and the statements of revenue and expenditure and surplus for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, except for our examination of cash receipts which, because of their nature, was limited to comparisons of recorded receipts with bank deposits, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, except for the effect of any adjustments that might have been required had we been able to fully verify cash receipts, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Society as at May 31, 1978 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles which, except for the change in the rate used to calculate the depreciation of equipment as referred to in Note 2 to the financial statements, have been applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding period.

The accounts of the Society, for the period ended May 31, 1977, were audited by another firm of chartered accountants.
